

The Account of Patricia de la Guerra de Row Widow of Antonio de Row. Empresario of de Row's Colony. In topics sustained in the Texas War, many of the items were appropri-ated to the use of the Texas Army, under the Com-mand of Genl. Rusk in 1836 at Antonio the balance was wholly lost to her by the war and by being forced to leave the Country with her family and abandon her property by the imperious and imperative orders of Genl. Rusk then Commandant of the Mexican Forces. She was then as now, a Widow her husband having died several years prior to that time. Her comparative affluence, she has been reduced to poverty. Public receipt, may have jus-tified the course pursued towards; but she trusts to the Magnanimity of her Country to do her ultimate Justice. Although the fol-lowing Account may seem large, she feels and knows that every item is both the truth in numbers as well as in value
